ANCHORAGE: The season of skiing and celebrating has arrived!

GIRDWOOD: Happy 10th anniversary to our awesome club

FAIRBANKS: Upgrades for Birch Hill terrain park, parking lot
Summer work sets the foundation for a special season ahead

Message from NSAA Board and Staff

Greetings Alaska Nordic community. It’s been a busy summer!

NSAA’s staff and board have been working hard this offseason. Some of the summer highlights included hiring our new NSAA program manager, updating NSAA’s HR policies and employee handbook, troubleshooting and fixing the snowmaking equipment at Kincaid Park, completing the sound system upgrade at Kincaid, working with our awesome biathlon community to restructure our Biathlon program. And our annual equipment maintenance went well, along with working with partnering with the Municipality on trail sign design and implementation.

Please mark your calendars and join us in planning for Junior Nationals in March 2019! This large event comes to Anchorage every 10 years and will welcome over 450 top Junior skiers from around the nation, and, of course, Alaska. Please visit our website to volunteer!

Many of you have already renewed your membership and picked a trail support level. Thank you! We are as excited about this season as you are!

Our staff continues to work hard reaching those in our community, many who are not aware that the NSAA maintains the trails they bike, run and hike on regularly. So this summer, NSAA reached out and had a presence at the Gold Nugget Triathlon, Anchorage’s Bike to Work Day and the Mayor’s Midnight Sun Marathon, and can also be seen on an insert with your Anchorage Water and Wastewater utility bill.

Looking for equipment? Save the date for NSAA’s annual Ski Swap on October 28. Looking for fun with your Nordic community? Save the date for NSAA’s festive season kickoff, celebrating Nordic sport with Olympians, on November 4.

We look forward to seeing you on the trails and volunteering at the many NSAA events this season!

NSAA Members of the Month: The Witmer family

NSAA is always thrilled to celebrate and thank its special members. This season, NSAA is spotlighting a handful of those supporters with short stories in the Nordic Skier. October’s NSAA Members of the Month are Frank and Erin Witmer (and their family!), who have been Nordic skiers for a combined 70 years across all family members (impressive!), and have been involved with NSAA for around 30 years, including the last four years with the immediate family.

NSAA: What do you love about Nordic skiing?

Low-impact, high-intensity exercise that keeps you warm all winter long! We appreciate your generous support of NSAA! Why do you choose to donate to NSAA?

Two of us just started ski jumping in September, and one of those is over 40 years of age! Erin organized Ski 4 Kids during the 2017-2018 season and was thrilled to see it all come together successfully. It’s wonderful to see our kids get excited for Junior Nordic (especially the gummy bears), even when the temperatures are in the single digits.

Trek, trails and tracks – a perfect combo!
So is the partnership between Trek Store of Anchorage and NSAA. Bill Fleming is no stranger to Anchorage, nor to Anchorage’s trail system. As an avid biker and owner of Trek Store of Anchorage, he admits he hasn’t skied in years, but he acknowledges the ski-bike connection: trails. Giving credit to NSAA, he says, “there’s no doubt that mountain bikers benefit today from the trails that NSAA built years ago.”

One of Bill’s favorite memories is regularly skiing the Jodhpur Loop at Kincaid Park as a kid with his dad. He remembers the NSAA slogan from years ago: trails don’t fall from the sky. Instilled at an early age, Bill recognized the value of ski trails, and getting outside with family regularly. He also has fond memories of trips to Grandview on NSAA’s Ski Train.

In recent years, Bill has become a loyal NSAA partner on many levels. It started out as casual conversations with NSAA staff seeking advice on how to connect better with the community. It’s since grown to so much more. Three years in a row, Trek has donated a fat tire bike to NSAA, with all raffle proceeds supporting Anchorage’s trails. As a proud NSAA Ski Train sponsor, they have also provided demo bikes for Ski Train participants in Curry.

Bill says that NSAA’s vision is complementary to mountain bikers: sustain trails year-round and encourage healthy living. In Bill’s words, “supporting the Nordic community just feels good.” We are so appreciative of Bill and the Trek Store of Anchorage.

Big air and big changes for NSAA Ski Jumping program

Big changes are coming to the Ski Jumping/Nordic Combined program. After building and growing the program for several years, coaches Zak Hammill and Natasha Mattoon are taking time off to travel. They will be replaced by two former national team members, Adam Loomis and Chris Lamb, who will coach the upcoming winter session as well as the 2019 summer and fall sessions.

Adam was born and raised in Eau Claire, Wisc. He spent most of his childhood with skis on his feet and was introduced to the sport of Nordic Combined at the age of 10. His career has gradually brought him farther west, beginning with Steamboat Springs, Colo., where he spent his summers training as a high schooler. After graduating, Adam made the full move to Steamboat, where he trained for two years with the Junior National team. Just after turning 20, Adam was named to the U.S. Nordic Combined Team and was asked to move to Park City to be with the rest of the team. He recently retired from the sport, ending a career that brought him all over Europe, occasionally to Asia, and to two Nordic World Championships.

While training and competing, Adam chipped away at his college education with online classes at DeVry University. He graduated with a Business Administration degree in 2017.

Since ending his competitive career, Adam has been staying active in the mountains - whether on skis, foot or a bike.

Chris Lamb is a New Hampshire native and former USA Ski Jumping Team member. He attended the National Sports Academy in Lake Placid, NY, from 2003-2007 and competed as a national team member from 2007-2014.

During his career, Chris was named to three Junior World Championship teams, achieved several podium finishes at National Championships, scored points in Continental Cups in Europe, and made the podium in several FIS Cup competitions, including two victories in Brattleboro, VT. The last three years of Chris’s career were spent living in Trondheim, Norway, where he was a member of the Tronderhopp ski club and trained with many of Norway’s top athletes and coaches. Chris’s time in Norway has provided him with a top-level education in ski jumping fundamentals: technique, physical and mental conditioning, etc. Since ending his career in 2014, Chris has completed a bachelor’s degree in philosophy and environmental studies at Marlboro College in Vermont, and he hopes to go on to teach higher education. He has coached periodically in Lake Placid since 2014. His personal distance record is 191.5 meters.

Both coaches are excited to be new members of Team AK, where they’ll share their knowledge, experiences and passion with the next generation of Ski Jumping and Nordic Combined athletes.

The NSAA is proud to introduce this season’s program and event directors, old and new. The “old” are gearing up for another great season and the “new” are charging into the season with enthusiasm. You should recognize a few familiar faces and when you see them on the trails, please thank them for all that they do!

Part of what makes NSAA great is the variety of programs and events it fuels and offers. The program and event directors provide the Anchorage area with substantial variety of events that encourages everyone to get outside and on the snow. NSAA thanks each and every director for their passion and dedication!

No off-season for NSAA’s Operations team

This summer we caught up on some housekeeping and machine maintenance. The yard behind the Bunker was getting pretty cramped so we rented an excavator and started with the demolition of the old, rotten Biathlon building. After disposing of that, we loaded and hauled thousands of pounds of scrap steel to the recycler bringing in a surprising amount of money since the price of steel is up (think tariffs). We are still figuring out how to dispose of a lot of parts and equipment that are of no use to us but too valuable to throw away. On a sad note, we said farewell to the old 1976 International slide back truck. We had considered fixing it but some engine parts are no longer available. As a memento, we kept its instrument cluster to hang on the wall because it has a very “classic” look.

We also spent a fair amount of time this summer catching up on maintenance. On the snow cat fleet, we replaced some primary hydraulic lines, seals, oils and filters and dealt with many other issues in need of attention. While these repairs may seem straightforward, these parts are frequently in hard-to-reach places leading to colorful language, stiff necks and really dirty coveralls. Both slide-back trucks needed some love and are now good to go. We then coordinated with the MOA Parks and Recreation to clean out the old pump building so that we could use it for storing the fan guns for snowmaking. There were just a ton of smaller jobs!

repaired that made their way through the shop.

Just recently, we dug up a snowmaking hydrant on the biathlon range that had been leaking. The actual valve is almost 13 feet in the ground to protect it from freezing. This one had cracked so we replaced and pressure checked it. To do this we rented another, bigger excavator, a trench box, an air compressor and an air knife to do the digging without hitting the buried utilities. The repair went well and we owe a big thank you to Tim Brabetts for helping to facilitate the work.

Of course, there are always downed trees on all the trails systems that need clearing, lots of mowing, and overall preparation for the next season. Can’t wait for the snow and we’ll see you on the trails!

Meet Sara Kamahele, NSAA’s new Program Manager

NSAA’s new Program Manager, Sara Kamahele, has hit the ground running. She joined the team in September and is excited to continue the great NSAA tradition of providing quality trails, programs and events to keep our community healthy and active.

Having grown up in Junior Nordic, Sara is not new to NSAA and says she fondly remembers the cookie tour and all the miles she skied to earn her Hawk jacket, like so many others. Sara says she learned early the value of hard work and persistence from the Nordic community. After racing in Besh Cups and for Bartlett High, she felt support from the organization and the local ski community as an NSAA scholarship recipient. Being a part of the NSAA staff now seems like a natural progression.

If you get a chance, introduce yourself to Sara. She’s excited to meet the many faces of the volunteers, supporters, and participants that keep this organization going.

The gift of a getaway

Thanks to longtime NSAA volunteers and members Gordon and Linda Wetzel, NSAA is excited to announce another cabin destination for its Nordic ski club members. The Wetzels have recently gifted their Nancy Lakes property to NSAA, sharing with us a special family getaway for them, full of many memories with their kids and grandkids.

Gordon, a former NSAA board president, has been passionate about the skiing community for many years and wanted to leave this beautiful property for many more to use. He and Linda have relocated to the Lower 48 to be closer with family but plan to visit again.

Thank you, Wetzel family, for sharing this precious gift with your Nordic family! Members will soon be able to rent the Wetzels’ cabin for outdoor adventures.

Gordon and Linda Wetzel present their generous gift to NSAA and its members.
Hunting for Olympians - Sharp shooters and fast skiers train all summer for winter success

BY TORSTEN RENNER AND KEITH CONGER

This spring, athletes from across Alaska had the unique opportunity to train with one of the most successful biathletes in the United States, Tim Burke. Tim recently retired from the World Cup Circuit and four Olympic Winter Games, then jumped straight into his new career as development coach. His first job assignment was to come up to Alaska and coach the annual Spring Biathlon Camp, while seeking out new talent.

The camp was offered biathletes in Alaska and beyond, including Swiss World Junior medalist Amy Baserga. The camp consisted of ski and shooting technique sessions, as well as and motivational seminars and presentations from ski Olympian Holly Brooks and ski team physical therapist Zuzana Rogers. It was a stimulating environment that made everyone present want to pick up a rifle and ski. Additionally, the camp featured the largest turnout of biathletes Anchorage has ever seen, making it a successful venture and a memorable experience.

In July, Nome Nordic hosted a summer biathlon camp with 3-time Biathlon Olympic Lanny Barnes. Barnes' high energy and enthusiasm was infectious, as participants were led through many exciting drills. Barnes instructed the young athletes, including novice just learning to shoot off hand as well as Arctic Winter Games medalists.

Another Olympic gracing our Kincaid Park biathlon range was Gold medal winner Katy Emmons (née Kurková). Katy Emmons, a three-time Olympic medal winner in rifle shooting from Czech Republic, taught precision small bore rifle instruction at this first time USA Shooting clinic.

And not to be left behind in the races because accurate shooting is half the biathlon sport, Marine Dusser, formerly of the French National Biathlon Team partnered with Layne Lewis, University of Alaska Fairbanks head rifle coach, at a biathlon shooting clinic for the Nordic Ski Club of Fairbanks biathletes.

CCAK

The 2018-19 ConocoPhillips Besh Cup racing season will begin in December and the carrot for many of the skiers is the opportunity to ski for Team Alaska in March on the trails of Kincaid Park for the 2019 U.S. Ski & Snowboard Junior National Cross Country Championships. While traveling to other states to experience new race courses is always exciting, the advantages of staying within the Alaska time zone give skiers the benefits their CCAK seed points.

The Besh Cup races are for non-Team Alaska seeking skiers as well. The monthly races vary in distances, techniques, formats, and location. For the majorities of skiers, the schedule consists of two sprint races, two interval start races, and two mass start races. For skiers under 14, the Nordic Ski Club of Fairbanks offers a ski-cross opportunity in place of one of the interval start races. The ski cross event is a spectator-friendly race of 6-8 skiers in heats that combines uphills, downhills, obstacles and jumps. Half of the races are classic technique and half of the races are freestyle technique. Anchorage is the host for the first weekend of racing. In January, the Tsitsifies Trails Association of Soldotna hosts Besh 3 & 4. The season finishes with an awards ceremony and the naming of Team Alaska in February at the Birch Hill trails of Fairbanks. Visit crosscountryalaska.org for specific dates and formats.

What to do now

Purchase or renew your US Ski & Snowboard license. Prices increase October 15. Besh Cup races are sanctioned by U.S. Ski & Snowboard, which requires racers to have a U.S. Ski & Snowboard membership. The choices are General or Competitive. U.S. Ski & Snowboard scores the races based on the results; and the seeding of the races is based on the cumulative scoring of U.S. Ski & Snowboard points and Besh Cup points for one calendar year. Visit the CCAK website for details on CCAK seed points. All skiers looking to make Team Alaska need to have Competitive licenses. It is a benefit for the U14 age group skiers to also select the Competitive license, as they earn U.S. Ski & Snowboard points when they race with the U16 skiers, which benefits their CCAK seed points. Skiers in the U08, U10, U12, Seniors and Masters age groups only need to purchase General licenses; though Seniors and Masters skiers also have the option to purchase Competitive licenses.

Registration opens October 1 and closes the Wednesday night prior to each race weekend. Registration rates increase by $10 for race day registration.

• $7 – U08/U10/U12
• $20 – U14
• $35 – U16 and older

There is a series discount for U16 and older skiers who register for all six races by October 31 receive one race free. Register for six – pay for five.

Besh Cup T-shirts will be given to U08, U10 and U12 skiers and all skiers who register for all six races. Watch CCAK website and Facebook, The Competition Committee meets the Wednesday evening prior to each race weekend to finalize the details of each race.

Calling Team Alaska coaches

CCAK is accepting applications for coaches. New this year is the requirement that all applicants have a current U.S. Ski & Snowboard license and complete SafeSport training. In 2017, U.S. Ski & Snowboard adopted the Safe Sport Code; and all U.S. Ski & Snowboard coaches, officials and volunteers are required to complete background checks. Applicants for U.S. Ski & Snowboard licenses will be automatically directed to the SafeSport training program, and the National Center for Safety Initiatives Website for the background check. In the past CCAK hasn’t required the U.S. Ski & Snowboard license to be presented until the championships. Beginning this year all registrations must be completed prior to applying to be a Team Alaska coach. Background screening may take several weeks to be completed, so please do not delay the U.S. Ski & Snowboard coaching application process.

Submit the CCAK coaching application with your 2018-19 U.S. Ski & Snowboard coaching license information. The coaching application is available on the CCAK website.

Deadlines

October 15 – To be a Team Alaska head coach/team leader
November 1 – To be a member of Team Alaska coaching staff

Ten Years of Creating Connection

BY DEB ESSEX

As the rest of Alaska was enjoying the fantastically sunny September (aka “Summer”), the Girdwood Nordic Ski Club was prepping trails for this upcoming winter. We spread woodchips on a notoriously sketchy downhill, finalized plans for bridge maintenance, finished the landscaping on the soon-to-be dedicated “Doug’s Bridge,” and most significantly, continued to propose creating additional trail connections in the Girdwood Valley.

We plan to attend the Anchorage Assembly seeking assignment of a non-exclusive public use easement to construct a new 4-4-kilometer trail loop connecting to both the Moose Meadow trail loop, and Nordic parking adjacent to the current Nordic 5K Loop.

For the past six years, the Nordic Loop has been the first trail system with available groomed cross-country skiing in Girdwood... usually in November. Most of Girdwood’s groomed trails are in wetlands, and they aren’t safe for grooming until 18 to 24 inches of snow accumulates. Plenty of skiing takes place after the first dusting... but for more than half of the winter recreationists in Girdwood (walkers), wait for grooming. We have listened to the community, and plan to create more opportunity for winter skiing, biking, walking, etc. on trail systems that meander through the woods and connect to current access locations.

We will keep you updated on our progress, so check our website and Facebook page for Anchorage Assembly dates, the latest grooming and trail updates.

This year, the Nordic Loop held five different foot races, with the most recent being the Girdwood Grizzlies hosting over 230 cross country runners at the September 17 ASD Middle School Cross Country Race. We loved seeing the runners excel on this challenging route, and have posted photos on our Facebook page. If you plan to host a race on the 5K Loop, just send us an email at info@skigirdwood.org.

In November, the GNSC will begin organizing our volunteer grooming gang. We work in conjunction with the Girdwood Parks and Recreation, and directly with Kyle Kelley to form a safe, insured, and educated bunch. If you are interested, please send Kyle an email at kelleykt@muni.org, or send the GNSC an email, and I'll forward them to Peter Zug.

In December, Donna Knutson and the GNSC will be hosting a dedication ceremony for the completed Doug’s Bridge project in memory of her late husband and Nordic enthusiast/volunteer Doug Knutson. Doug was active in the Nordic Clubs of Fairbanks, Anchorage and Girdwood, and we are honored to remember him along the trail. Supportive and safe connections like these bridges will provide our community with a more connected trail system. Date and time TBA.

In December, we will celebrate our annual Solstice “Bring on the Light” ski and bonfire on December 21. We will have hats, socks and insulated mugs on sale, free hot chocolate and cookies, music and beautifully decorated trees to enjoy! BYO-Marshmellows!

Until then, I hope to see you on the trails. If you agree with our proposed trails plan, I encourage you to write a letter of support. As many of you know, trail proposals included many meetings and monumental fundraising. If you can’t attend meetings, writing letters is a great way to show the expanding community that you are in favor of connected multi-use trail systems.

Message from Jason Dennis / CERNSC President

After all of this fabulous fall weather it is hard to imagine the ski season is just around the corner. The CERNSC Board members have met recently to plan the upcoming 2018-2019 ski season. It is looking like it will be a banner year.

The first event is our Annual Member Meeting. All Chugiak-Eagle River Nordic Ski Club members are invited to meet on October 14th from 12-3pm at Birchwood Camp which is located off Beach Lake Road. There will be a general discussion about the current state of affairs with the club and new board members will be voted in. If you are new to the area or just want to come to the meeting, we would love to have you become part of our club and learn about how you can become support your local skiing community. Volunteers of the year, Ryan Caldwell and Rish Harty will be recognized for their endless work in helping the Jr. Nordic program be such a success. A potluck BBQ will follow with burgers and hot dogs provided.

Last year we kicked off a new program partnering with Chugiak High School Ski Team to come along side our volunteer coaches to provide mentorship and to share some real-world technical knowledge. There was so much positive feedback from the coaches and ERJN skiers that we are not only continuing the program but looking to expand to include the Eagle River High School team as well. Their help was invaluable. We will have more information in the future coming about how high school skiers in the Chugiak/Eagle River area can get involved.

We are currently working on revamping the CERNSC website and the online sign-up for CERNSC and ERJN. Hopefully we will be able to have it go live before the start of this season. One of the goals is to be able to allow push communication from the system out to the parents and coaches information about events and skiing conditions. In an effort to try and eliminate the hotline.

Event locations have changed slightly from previous years, so watch carefully the location as well as date and time of events. All events will be posted on Facebook, CERNSC website, and the Nordic Skier.

Look forward to seeing you on the trails soon.

 President’s Message from Fritz Creek Skier

I am looking forward to another great ski season, supported by the incredible volunteers of the Kachemak Nordic Ski Club. I was reminded that in the earlier days of the club “…we had meetings where we threw beer at each other …” but the trail system expanded and got groomed, events were a success, and everybody had a good time!

Although KNSC’s preventative maintenance program for our grooming equipment was a success, nonetheless we had some very serious problems with equipment last year due to a couple of unfortunate episodes. One ATV lost its oil and then, quickly, its engine following an error by a very experienced and valued operator: This is the cost of doing business, however unfortunate. The operator felt terrible about it, but everyone makes a mistake now and again and we forgive him! However, after we replaced the engine, that engine also failed! After only three miles, it lost all of its coolant! We’ll never really know how that happened because so many parts melted, but again, chalk it up to the cost of doing business with complex machinery: These two unfortunate events have put some real stress on the club’s finances, but we will make it. KNSC now has a new snowmachine, an ATV with its third new engine (in almost as many days!), and a new (demo) ATV. Hopefully this year things will go more smoothly!

In other news, the Kenai Peninsula Borough Assembly unanimously approved a Community Trails Management Agreement with KNSC. The agreement has not been completed finally, so stay tuned. The agreement will give KNSC trail management authority for 20 years on the trails that cross 23 Kenai Borough parcels. Super-thanks to all of you, our members, for making 2017-18 yet another best membership year ever for KNSC! We also have been receiving an extra donation from a pair of generous members to help support the Junior Nordic Program. “They never had kids so felt they could afford to help parents get their kids out skiing” through our equipment rental program — only $25 for skis and boots for the entire season. Keep the memberships coming and thank our groomers and volunteers! Many hands truly make for light work!

Ski you on the trails!

A big thanks to Homer’s hardworking KNSC volunteers

all. “I’m not a grooming rock star like Dave Brann or John Miles,” he says, “but I definitely help out for special events like the marathon, the wine and cheese ski, and the Epic.”

For the 100K Epic Race that rolls through the outlying hills, Kevin and another volunteer, Pat Irwin, set out the original trail years ago. “That was also a good gig,” he recalls. “I’d never ski 100K but was able to scout and ride around on snow machines to Caribou Lake, the Snomad’s Palace cabin, and other far out places I’d never see otherwise.”

In a typical year, he puts about 50 hours into grooming.

For the popular Wine and Cheese event every February, he and his wife did the organizing for about six years. That effort took about 20 to 30 hours a week for a few weeks before the event.

Kevin also served on the KNSC board of directors for a few years. When the Besh Cup race series comes to town, he volunteers to keep time and perform other chores.

And then there is Kevin’s grant writing for KNSC – a big chore and one of his most satisfying accomplishments.

Homer’s Lookout Mountain Recreation Area building took two Recreational Trail Program (RTP) grants. Kevin started attending meetings about building design in 2013, wrote the first grant in 2014, and administered and managed the work for that grant for $50,000 in the summer of 2015.

That grant covered the dirt work, heated concrete slab, and work with a construction crew to put up the building shell.

While managing that effort, Kevin wrote the second RTP grant for $30,000 in 2015 to finish the building’s exterior and interior, and add a lean to and kiosk for work to be accomplished in 2016.

“I had lots of volunteer help from people during both grants,” Kevin adds. “At times, this was like a fulltime job, working up to 40 hours per week between on the jobsite managing and helping out, keeping track of all the invoices and performance reports, and writing the grants, which involves hours of time on the phone and computer. The last grant I wrote was a 61-page package, getting input and documentation from probably 20 different agencies, boards, and elected officials.”

But, like Marylou, Kevin volunteers because of the camaraderie. The times he has shared with his best friends, most of whom are longtime groomers, make for great memories. Like trying to dig out grooming machines for the Marathon race after a 3-4-foot snow dump … and getting stuck every couple hundred feet in the soft snow … and taking all afternoon to load up the machines.

Another time Kevin’s snow machine died when he was grooming a long trail and stuck in a deep valley with no cell phone coverage … in late afternoon. He post-holed for about a quarter mile to reach the top of a ridge and call for help. Dave Brann showed up with the KNSC’s lead mechanic, Bill Hague, who took the engine apart and put everything back together. Kevin and his companions made it home in the dark, with all the snow machines running.

“If volunteering wasn’t fun, I wouldn’t be doing it,” he concludes. “I get to work with some of my best friends, and meet other people with similar interests.”
Change of seasons brings changes of NSCF personnel

BY ERIC TROYER

Skiing may have been minimal over the summer, but the club was quite active. We have had several NSCF personnel changes.

The biggest change was the departure of Pete Leonard, who resigned as head coach and Director of Skier Development. In his position, Pete primarily headed up NSCF-FXC (Fairbanks Cross Country), the junior race-training program for the club. Pete left to become executive director of the Methow Valley Nordic Ski Educational Foundation. Alasdair Tutt was hired to replace Pete. Alasdair has been an FXC assistant coach for the past two years.

Pete leaves behind a flourishing junior race-training program, one that he was instrumental in creating. He was hired in 2006 as the first coach of FXC with just four athletes signed up for the program. He leaves a program with more than 100 participating athletes and several program levels. He also helped improve aspects of the club’s Adult Lessons and Junior Nordics programs.

In addition to his club duties, Pete has held a number of other positions for Alaska and U.S. skiing organizations, including coach for the U.S. Ski Team at World Juniors, co-head coach of the Alaska Junior National Team, chair of the USSA Junior Coaches Subcommittee, and a member of the Cross Country Alaska Competition Committee. He will be missed.

Fortunately, the club has a great replacement. Alasdair has an extensive background in ski coaching and strength training. In addition to his FXC experience, his resume includes regional and national team positions in Australia and with the Steamboat Springs (Colorado) Winter Sports Club. He also has more than five years of international racing experience, possesses a Bachelor of Sports Coaching and Exercise Science, and is currently working on a Masters of Sports Science – Performance Optimization for Elite Sports.

Other personnel changes

Aelin Allegood has left as the club’s Sponsorship Coordinator. Aelin started the position in the summer of 2016 and had to step down because she was diagnosed with breast cancer in December 2017. She is currently undergoing daily radiation. Rebecca Heaton has been hired to replace Aelin.

Rebecca has worked for about a year as the club’s Data Coordinator. She will hold both positions, which are part-time.

“I’m thrilled to be taking on the sponsorship coordinator position but I have very big shoes to fill!” Rebecca wrote in an email.

Rebecca had also been the Adult Lessons Coordinator for the club last season, but she has given up that position. Don and Tracy Pendergrass and Maria Case (Taylor) will be handling those duties this season.

Australia to Alaska: Tutt comes north to lead top Fairbanks skiers

Alasdair Tutt has been with the NSCF since 2016. He started as an assistant coach for NSCF-FXC, the junior race-training program with the club. Alasdair was recently hired as the Head Coach and Director of Skier Development. He primarily coaches the FXC programs, but he also oversees aspects of Adult Lessons and Junior Nordics programs.

Alasdair grew up in southeast Australia and has been cross-country skiing since age nine. Alasdair represented Australia at the 2012-2014 Junior/Under 23 World Championships while completing a degree in sports coaching and exercise science from the University of Canberra.

We decided to ask him a few questions to find out a bit more about him.

How long have you been a cross-country skier? What do you remember about your first time on skis?

I’ve been skiing regularly now for 15 years. Prior to that I remember having one day on skis when I was four or five years old and falling over a lot, spilling tomato soup on my rental boots and maybe skiing a few hundred meters with my parents.

What do you like about cross-country skiing?

I love the access to wilderness and travel. With skiing I’ve made friends around the world and almost wherever I go, it’s inevitable that you run into someone you’ve raced against, had the same coach as, or trained with at some point in time.

Where do you like to cross-country ski and why?

Hands down my favourite places to ski are Seeal, Austria, and Falls Creek, Australia. I’ve spent so much time in both places and know every twist and turn so well that it’s very relaxing and I always know where to find good coffee afterwards.

What other activities do you enjoy besides skiing?

I enjoy hiking, kayaking and mountain biking. A lot of my time now is taken up training my new dog into an adventure companion that won’t eat my shoes, so we’ll see what I can do once she’s fully grown.

When and why did you move to Fairbanks? What do you like about living in Fairbanks?

I moved to Fairbanks in May 2016 to take up the assistant coaching position with NSCF-FXC. Fairbanks has a great skiing community and it’s the people who make it a special place to live.

Is there anything more you want to tell us about yourself?

I recently started studying my master’s degree in sport science at Mid-Sweden University. Weirdly enough I seem to have fallen into the perfect place at the perfect time as we are going to be researching the effects of “extreme” cold on performance, and strategies to keep athletes performing well, and safe at low temperatures.

It's time to register for Junior Nordics!

The temperatures are dropping. Snow's on its way. That means it's time to register your kids for the Fairbanks Junior Nordics program! This is a great way to introduce your kids to the sport of cross-country skiing. Lessons are open for ages 4 to 14. All levels welcome. To find out more, including how to register, see nscfairbanks.org/programs/junior-nordics.

Norris featured in Trail Runner magazine

Fairbanks son and skiing phenom David Norris was featured in the October edition of Trail Runner magazine for being the two-time winner of the Mount Marathon race. The short article is part of a larger article titled “Top Trail Race Bucket List.” But Norris’s skiing accomplishments are featured prominently in the article about him noting that Norris is not a typical trail runner. “Most of his running is geared toward training for his primary sport, Nordic skiing.” Trail Runner is available at newstands or at trailrunnermag.com.

NSCF seeking Junior Nordics coaches

Our youth skiers are in need of your help! We have lots of excited, budding Nordic skiers ready to enjoy this amazing snow and not enough volunteer coaches to go around. The number of Junior Nordics participants is growing along with the need for lot expansion,” according to Lee Williams, facilities manager at Birch Hill.

“Large events causing parking to reach out into neighborhood streets or requiring shuttles highlighted the need for lot expansion,” according to Lee Williams, facilities manager at Birch Hill. The existing lower lot was considered but rejected.

“The project was funded in 2015 through a federal highway access grant. It was fully designed in 2017, and on-site work began this summer, including installation of light poles and a pedestrian access staircase. The new lot adds about 75 parking spaces, meaning the combined lots will hold about 350 cars. This will be a big help at busy times, especially during popular events.

“Large events causing parking to reach out into neighborhood streets or requiring shuttles highlighted the need for lot expansion,” according to Lee Williams, facilities manager at Birch Hill. The existing lower lot was expanded by several feet to allow for some parking to be available when team trailers are installed during large-scale events, Williams added. People are able to directly access the trails and public buildings from the new parking lot. A gate near the junction of West Ramp and North Forty trail provides access to the trails. Stairs and a ramp provide access to the buildings. Construction of the new parking lot did mean the loss of the old terrain garden. Other options were considered but rejected.

“Other options were considered but rejected. ‘This area was the only real option available without sacrificing existing trails,’ Williams said.

New lot expands parking at Birch Hill Recreation Area

BY ERIC TROYER

Want to park at Birch Hill Recreation Area? You’ve now got more options.

The Fairbanks North Star Borough added a new parking lot over the summer where the terrain garden used to be behind the old equipment building. (See separate story on the new Terrain Park.) As of mid-September the lot is ready for parking, but a few items still needed to be added, including installation of two light poles and a pedestrian access staircase.

The new lot adds about 75 parking spaces, meaning the combined lots will hold about 350 cars. This will be a big help at busy times, especially during popular events.

The new parking lot, seen from near the West Ramp/North Forty intersection, includes a ramp and lights.
Tips for new Fairbanks Junior Nordics parents

BY SALLY ENDESTAD

• Families with multiple kids, take a notebook to the store and jot notes on boot, ski and pole sizes needed for all children.
• Visit ski swaps to look for your specific needs before shopping at stores for retail prices. The kids grow so fast and you might find that they grow out of their equipment during the season. To avoid this problem, purchase boots with a bit more room and double the socks. It may be used in Fairbanks when our cold temps hit.
• Make sure if your child has never skied before to try on all the equipment inside on your living room carpet. Allow them the space to move around and find their balance a few times. Carve out some time at the ski area for them to safely put on their skis and begin to slide around even if they’ve never tried it before. That will help give them the necessary confidence it will take to successfully navigate the first lessons.
• A sense of humor on the days when it is really cold goes a long way in creating the steadfast attitude that all things are possible with the right attitude. Whatever the conditions, we’ll make the best of it.
• Always carry extra mittens, handy heated and a neck warmer on days when it is cold. You can reuse them multiple times if you seal them in a jar before they lose their heat.
• Your car should be stocked with an extra bag containing socks, hats, mittens etc. You will need them at some point for your children or others who may be skiing with you.
• Label everything! Lesson days get crowded with excited kids who may not be paying attention when they pick up their belongings. Take a moment to be sure they have theirs.
• A warm snack before Jr. Nordics lessons along with water in the car afterwards (they really do work up a sweat!!) goes a long way in making your experience a good one. It also is setting the stage for the care of their bodies for any future endeavors.
• Enter the Town Series races! They are family oriented and give your child a chance to strut their stuff no matter what level they are at.
• Show up and ski – even if it is just once. Nothing reinforces the fun more than seeing mom or dad out there with them. Plus, it is good for mom or dad to get some fresh air. It might just turn into a wonderfully healthy habit!
• Take a day and ski with you kids when they are not at Jr. Nordics. Pick a lovely Saturday and ask your kids to take you for a ski at the UAF or Birch Hill trails. Believe it or not, that little bit of interest you show goes a long way and makes for a great family outing.
• Remember that hour once, twice or three times a week is also your hour as a parent. Enjoy the time.
• Sometimes the bundling and getting out the door process takes longer than the actual skiing time. Try to be OK with this! Eventually the time spent skiing exceeds the preparation time. There will be many weeks when you never make it out of the stadium or the terrain park. It’ll come. Embrace it. Before you know it, you won’t able to keep up with your kids!
• Listen to your child. There’s a difference between needing a bit of encouragement and gently prodding your child when they’re not excited about skiing. Don’t ever force your child to participate.
• Building relationships is an extremely important element in the life of the child. Know your child. If you have an introvert and your personality is an extrovert, be sensitive to that. Give them the adequate space to form their own bonds. Stay after the session and speak with some of the other parents so that it creates a space for the child to develop relationships with the other kids.
• A lot of work goes into parenting in general but specifically, creating the desire for healthy exercise is part of our job. Being intentional with the activities to promote a healthy lifestyle is one way to do it. Children aim to please their parents. If parents make it a habit to exercise daily, kids learn by imitation and it becomes a part of their daily lives. Whether kids decide to ski as part of a competitive club or not, shouldn’t matter. The ultimate goal is to have children moving and enjoying the sport of cross-country skiing.

Fairbanks Nordic Ski Patrol looking for volunteers to help keep skiers safe

BY ERIC TROYER

Want to help keep skiers safe at NSCF races? Considering joining the volunteer Fairbanks Nordic Ski Patrol. The FNSP is “always looking for potential candidates interested in patrolling,” according to Patrol Director Nancy Hanneman.

The FNSP has volunteers at most of the major competitive events of NSCF, including coordinating with Birch Hill Alpine during the Sonot Kuzzo. It has served the NSCF since 2015. The group is an offshoot of the Fairbanks Ski Patrol, which patrols the Ski Land alpine ski area, and has many members who patrol both. It also has members from the Moose Mountain and Birch Hill Alpine ski patrols.

The FNSP probably won’t have an Outdoor Emergency Care (OEC) certification course this year; but anyone who is interested in the Patrol could be a candidate status patroller for this season. Anyone with EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) training can try to challenge the OEC course.

To volunteer or find out more information contact Nancy Hanneman at akplacer@alaska.net.

Bump Garden? Terrain Garden? Terrain Park? Whatever you call it, where is it?

The expansion of the parking lot at Birch Hill required that the Terrain Park be moved. It is now in the woods between legs of the Warm Up Loop.

The new location was chosen to meet several criteria: 1) near the stadium, 2) a relatively large area with no crossing trails, and 3) a steep enough gradient to provide the speed needed to make the features functional.

While the new Terrain Park is within legs of the Warm Up Loop, it has been designed so that skiers won’t be shooting out onto the Warm Up Loop. And the new park will have two light poles so that it can be used at night.

The new park will be different and better than the old one, according to John Estle, club competition director.

"Rather than a single, open area, it has 3-4 discrete trails that can be followed," Estle wrote in an email. "A large 'start hump' (pile of earth) will give skiers the ability to start with a higher speed than is afforded by the natural grade/elevation. The banked turns in the old TG were useless, as it was impossible to get enough speed to actually ski up on the banked turns. The new TP features some banked turns that should actually work."

The separate trails will greatly reduce the risk of collision between skiers that was an aspect of the open terrain garden, according to Pete Leonard, former Head Coach and Director of Skier Development, who was involved in the design of the new park. The trails have been designed to accommodate different skills and abilities.

"The goal is to make this place so much fun to ski that the kids are in love with skiing and love every opportunity to go to Birch Hill and don’t even think about the 20 second sprint they are doing up the hill to start the next run, nor the agility, balance and coordination they are developing each time they go down,” Leonard wrote in an email.

"The new Terrain Park is a big improvement over the old terrain garden," Estle added. "Much more variety, many more options, much more interesting."

Funding for the Terrain Park has come from a variety of sources, according to NSCF President Bruce Jamieson: “The FNSB Parks and Rec, Parking Lot Expansion grant, NSCF and Rasmuson Foundation have all contributed in an effort to get this project completed.”

Work on the park started in 2017 when Alaska Fire Service hotshot crews cut trees, but the park won't be finished for at least another year, according to Head Groomer Tom Helmers: “We are trying to get it useable this season, and finish it next summer.”

OFF THE TRAIL

The Body Adapts

BY ZUZANA ROGERS, PT, SCD, SCS, COMT
Advanced Physical Therapy

I am absolutely thrilled to be a part of another great season of The Nordic Skier! I hope you had a great summer and are diving into training for the upcoming winter!

And it is right now, when transitioning from leisure hiking, backpacking, boating, biking and other great summer activities to ski-specific training, that our bodies start to complain a bit. It may be that peaky plantar fasciitis or Achilles tendopathy chirping at you, or an arthritic knee making you adapt your training. You may suddenly notice that a pain has surfaced without you ‘doing anything special.’

Here is the good news: The body adapts – as long as applied stress is not greater than the body’s capacity to adapt.

What does it mean?

Think about your cardiovascular system. Your first 5-mile run at the beginning of running season is pretty tough, but then it gets much, much easier as your system develops an aerobic base and endurance as it adapts. It’s the same with our tissues.

If you allow tissues to be gradually loaded, they get stronger and more durable to the stress you are putting them through. Your Achilles gets tougher and more resilient. Your knee cartilage gets stronger. The plantar fasciitis resolves.

The tissues adapt.

When you load tissues (tendon, muscle, cartilage), microdamage occurs. The tissue repairs – often stronger – than its previous version. This takes approximately 72 hours.

But you can’t completely rest for those 72 hours, otherwise you’ll reset back to square one. The recommendations are to cross-train; light skate ski after a hard classic interval day, bike, or hit the gym.

Don’t forget your sleep! If you are training hard, your body may need the 6+ hours at night, plus an extra nap (what a luxury!). Appropriate nutrition is also extremely important; you may recover very fast with good nutrition, otherwise it may take weeks. Sleep and nutrition are the best anti-inflammatory remedies out there.

If the load to your tissues is more than can be repaired in 72 hours, we start noticing increased pain and fatigue. Scale back slightly, and make sure your recovery is optimal. But don’t rest completely unless absolutely needed. Talk to your physical therapist.

The takeaways:

• Unless you are following a strict training plan designed to have you peak at a certain time of the year, try to space your most intense workouts 3 days apart.

• Cross-train between high intensity days.

• Recover well! Sleep and good nutrition are the best recovery remedies you can get your hands on.

• If you have increased pain, try to identify the cause. Not ‘I did a lot of hill sprints on Tuesday,” but maybe ‘I did a lot of hill sprints on Tuesday after doing striding intervals on Monday after a backpacking trip and not sleeping well over the weekend’… you get the picture.
